About Saturday SUNYMEU

The SUNY Model European Union (SUNYEU) was founded in 1987 by the State University of New York (SUNY). SUNYMEU simulates policymaking at the ministerial and head of government levels in the European Union.

The Saturday (Fall) SUNYMEU is a one-day event. Saturday SUNYMEU simulates a European Council summit during the Presidency. With the EU facing a succession of crises in recent years “special” summits of European Councils occur much more often now than at the beginning/end of the Council Presidency with the European Council meeting on average seven times per year at the Europa Building in Brussels.

This guide can be used by any high school or university campus wishing to simulate a European Council meeting. The guidelines are suitable for classroom use (can take place throughout the semester in a course) or as a one-day event that could be hosted by a Model EU/Model UN club. It is also suitable as a regional activity for local colleges to provide students with an introduction to the European Union.

The overall purpose of Saturday SUNYMEU is to provide a framework for a partial simulation of the decision-making process of the European Union. The advance preparations and the simulation should give all participants a better understanding of the EU; of international and supranational organizations in general; of the EU Member States, their peoples, politics, and policies; and of major current issues of international relations. Also, the simulation should provide the participants with opportunities to develop their skills and techniques at negotiation and conflict resolution, public speaking, debate, expository writing, logic and reasoning, small-group dynamics, leadership, and problem-solving.

SUNYMEU is a Student Activity

SUNYMEU can be listed as a student activity on your resume. Suggested entry: “Participated in the intercollegiate SUNY Model European Union, Fall 2023, a student-led and student-run simulation and leadership activity. SUNY Fredonia – Represented INSERT COUNTRY NAME.”

Location

SUNY Fredonia hosts Saturday SUNYMEU in the Williams Student Center. Park in Lots 9A-C.

Meetings

Saturday SUNYMEU has two meetings taking place simultaneously: European Council (HOGs) and the Foreign Affairs Council (foreign ministers). The European Council President chairs the European Council meeting, working in close cooperation with the delegation playing the Spanish Presidency of the Council (formerly called the “Council of Ministers”), which is in place from 1 July – 31 December 2023. The High Representative for Foreign and Security Policy chairs the FAC, assisted by the Spanish Foreign Minister. The “output” of the simulation takes the form of “Statement of the Foreign Affairs Council of the European Union” and “Statement by the European Council regarding progress in African Union-European Union Partnership.”

Tips for Preparation

Students preparing to participate in SUNYMEU should concentrate their efforts on these activities:

- Gaining an understanding of the structure and dynamics of the European Union, especially those institutions that are included in the simulation in which the student is participating.
- Learning as much as possible about the policies currently of concern to the European Union and its Member States.
- Acquiring an understanding of the domestic and international concerns of the Member State to be represented.
- Improving their skills at negotiating, conflict resolution, parliamentary procedure, parliamentary prose, public speaking, debate, and logic and reasoning.
- Learning about the specific person to be represented, i.e., the alter ego of the student-participant.

The EU is widely studied and reported. The IEUSS maintains a website with resources for learning about and staying current about the EU. The visitor will find links to the official website of the European Union, thinktanks, current periodicals, report depositories and so forth. Saturday SUNYMEU simulates the Foreign Affairs Council of the European Union and the European Council.

Each Member State will be represented by a head of government (prime minister, chancellor or president), who acts as head of their delegation and a foreign minister. See Table 4 for a list of the EU’s institutions.

European Council

The European Council is a gathering of “the big shots” of the European Union, i.e., the Heads of State or Government of the member states.¹ (The term “Heads of State or Government” is used because in semi-presidential or presidential systems—examples include Cyprus, France, and Poland—the Head of State is also the Head of Government.) The Heads of Government (HOGS)² meet in the European Council (often called “EU summits”). The European Council makes declarations, acting as a “board of directors,” that it expects the Commission and/or Council to act on in the near future. So, while the Commission drafts legislation and the Council and the European Parliament revise and pass legislation, the European Council meets in summits to discuss longer-range issues and issue policy statements. It sets the overall direction of the EU in these policy statements, especially in its “Conclusions,” at the end of an EU Presidency. This means that its policies should be as clear as possible so that the institutions (Commission, Parliament, and Council) draft (Commission) and revise and pass (Council and Parliament are co-legislative bodies) the supporting legislation.

¹A guide to the European Council is available at: <https://www.consilium.europa.eu/en/european-council/members/>

² Participants should be mindful of the distinction between head of government and head of state. In constitutional monarchies the prime minister is head of government and the monarch is head of state. In parliamentary republics, the HOG is the prime minister or chancellor and the head of state is typically called “president.”

Under the Lisbon Treaty, only Heads of State or Government, the European Council President, and the Commission President are European Council members, although the latter two cannot vote. The European Council thus has a membership of 29. Virtually all European Council decisions are taken by unanimous agreement of the member states. The European Council is required by treaty to meet at least four times per year.

European Council meetings are chaired by the President of the European Council, who is elected by qualified majority of the members of the European Council for a 2½ year term, renewable once. In practice, both first two Presidents – Herman van Rompuy (2009-14), who was the Belgian Prime Minister at the time of his appointment, and Donald Tusk (2014-19), who was the Polish Prime Minister, served five-year terms. The third President, Charles Michel, who was the Belgian Prime Minister at the time of his appointment in July 2019, served his initial term of office from December 2019 until May 31, 2022. On March 24, 2022, Michel was re-elected President for a second term. The powers of the President are defined only vaguely (in Article 15 TEU), but they are enough to give this individual the potential to exercise important policy roles.

Council of the European Union

(Commonly referred to just as “the Council”)

Ministers represent their national governments through the EU institution called “the Council.” All ministers act, in effect, as the representatives of the interests of their Member States in the policy areas for which they are responsible. As nearly as is possible in the European Union today, ministers are charged to look after their national interests rather than a vague European-wide interest, though they try to bring these two interests together. So, they are the guardians of the national interest. All ministers are active politicians in the partisan politics of their home countries, which gives them specific partisan and ideological orientations as well. They endeavour to ensure that nothing is decided that will undermine their respective national policies.

The Council meets in ten configurations (see

Foreign Ministers

This formation of the Foreign Affairs Council (FAC) is chaired by the High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy. Foreign Ministers, who deal with all aspects of foreign policy, meet in the Foreign Affairs Council. Foreign Ministers also often make up the composition of the General Affairs Council (GAC), especially when there are particularly important matters on the agenda. The GAC is chaired by the rotating Council Presidency.

SUNYMEU foreign ministers should learn about the political and ideological orientation of their alter egos. It is important to keep in mind that in coalition governments a minister's political party may differ from that of their HOG.

Box 1), with ministers from each of the member states represented on each of the councils.³ While the Council sits in ten different configurations, its decisions are made in the name of “the Council.” The Council’s seat is in Brussels with some meetings taking place in Luxembourg. For students who are familiar with federal systems, one might think of the Council as the chamber representing regions, but one which sits in committees rather than in plenary. Indeed, it has sometimes been observed that while the Council is undoubtedly a legislative body, it is the only legislative body in democratic system that deliberates and legislates in committees rather than in the whole.

The GAC also coordinates the preparation and follow-up of European Council meetings. Its members can be foreign ministers, permanent representatives, European Affairs ministers—the choice of representative depends upon the policy area under consideration and the judgment of the member state.

Council Presidency

The Council Presidency rotates between states on a six-monthly basis. SPAIN HOLDS THE PRESIDENCY DURING SATURDAY SUNYMEU.

The Presidency chairs all Council meetings except meetings of the Foreign Affairs Council (FAC), which are chaired by the High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy. The foreign minister of Spain will chair FAC when the High Rep is unavailable.

The Council Presidency is a key device for organizing and carrying out the work of the Council over the six-month period. While member states bring one or two priorities that they hope will leave a positive legacy—"during the Swedish Presidency the EU achieved..."—real world (unexpected) events can sometimes derail proposed plans. .

Information about how the Council Presidency functions.

The High Representative/Vice President of the Commission and the EEAS

In effect, the HR/VP is the "Union Minister for Foreign Affairs," but this "symbolically charged" title (in the failed Constitutional Treaty) was dropped and replaced with the more cumbersome title of High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy.

The HR's institutional position is complex, with the incumbent having a base in both the Commission and the Council. In the Commission, the HR/VP is the Commissioner for External Relations. In the Council, the HR/VP chairs the Foreign Affairs Council (FAC) – more on the FAC, below. The HR also heads the European External Action Service (EEAS), the EU's diplomatic corps created in the Lisbon treaty (in a responsibility that parallels the foreign minister's management function in national governments).

The HR's roles are established in the TEU as being ones of proposer, promoter, facilitator, and implementer. The HR is not a major independent decision-maker: the making of key policy decisions is left to the European Council and the Council of Ministers.

It was hoped by many observers that the HR would be able to give the Common Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP) a significant external boost, not least by giving it a "human face." But the TEU built in uncertainty in this regard with Article 15, which covers the responsibilities of the European Council President: "The President of the European Council shall, at his level and in that capacity, ensure the external representation of the Union on issues concerning its common foreign and security policy, without prejudice to the powers of High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy."

Council Voting

Unanimity is required areas that are highly sensitive, such as in the Commons Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP) and Common Security and Defence Policy (CSDP). Thus, unanimity is used for voting during Saturday SUNYMEU due to the nature of the topics under debate.

Statements made by the European Council usually provide broad policy outlines, with details and arrangements for their implementation being left to the Council (of Ministers) and the European Commission. Most major policy matters of concern to the EU are required to be at least passed through the European Council. In some policy areas, such as enlargement, treaty reform, and withdrawals from the EU, the European Council takes final decisions. In many other policy areas – from the identification of major foreign policy goals to considering which Member States should be permitted to join the euro system – the European Council sets out policy statements that act as guidelines other EU institutions must then follow.

Saturday SUNYMEU Seating Order

1. European Council seating order.

The Presidencies and the European Commission president take the central position in circular formation or sit at the head of the room. The member states' representatives sit according to the official EU listing order⁵, which is by Presidency rather than alphabetical order and rotate counter-clockwise around the table.

Hence, starting from the member holding the rotating presidency (Spain for Saturday SUNYMEU 2023), the seating order is as follows: Belgium, Hungary, Poland, Denmark, Cyprus,

⁵ See <https://www.consilium.europa.eu/en/press/press-releases/2016/07/26/council-rotating-presidencies-revised-order/>

Ireland, Lithuania, Greece, Italy, Latvia, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Slovakia, Malta, Estonia, Bulgaria, Austria, Romania, Finland, Croatia, Germany, Portugal, Slovenia, France, Czechia, Sweden.

2. Foreign Affairs Council Seating Order.

The Foreign Affairs Council (FAC) follows the same seating order rules as above but is chaired by the High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy (rather than the foreign minister holding from the EU member state holding the EU's presidency).

Conduct of Meetings

All participants should be familiar with Roberts' Rules of Order (parliamentary procedure). Participants should also review the proper forms for addressing chairs. For those readers who have never participated in a meeting that uses parliamentary procedure, this video offers a good introduction.

With smaller meetings the chair should attempt to use "Rules for Debate in Small Committees." Chairs should use their discretion whether to use Roberts' Rules of Order (parliamentary procedure) or rules for debate in small committees.

Rules for Debate in Small Committees

The rules for small committee meetings are different from the rules (parliamentary procedure) that apply to large meetings of assemblies or plenary bodies.

1. Members are not required to obtain the floor before making motions or speaking, which they can do while seated.
2. There is no limit to the number of times a member can speak to a question, and motions to close or limit debate generally are not allowed. (Note: In practice, even these motions are in fact usually allowed.)
3. Informal discussion of a subject is permitted while no motion is pending.
4. Sometimes, when a proposal is perfectly clear to all present, a vote can be taken without a motion having been introduced. Unless agreed by general consent, however, all proposed actions of a committee must be approved by vote under the same rules as an assembly.

Parliamentary Procedure (Roberts' Rules of Order)

These should be used for larger meetings that cannot be run more informally. How formal meetings should be is a matter for the chair to decide based on progress achieved. If the small committee rules are not allowing the business to progress, the chair should consider using Robert's Rules of Order.

Basic Principles of Parliamentary Procedure

1. Parliamentary procedure exists to facilitate the transaction of business and to promote cooperation and harmony.
2. All members have equal rights, privileges, and obligations.
3. The majority has the right to decide.
4. The minority has rights which must be protected.
5. A quorum must be present for the group to act. Full and free discussion of every motion considered is a basic right.
6. Only one question at a time can be considered at any given time.
7. Members have the right to always know what the immediately pending question is, and to have it restated before a vote is taken.
8. No member can speak until recognized by the chair.
9. No one can speak a second time on the same question if another wants to speak a first time.
10. The chair should be strictly impartial.

Rules Governing Parliamentary Debate⁶

1. A member may not speak until recognized by the chair.
2. When no special rule relating to the length of speeches is adopted by the group, a member can speak no longer than ten minutes unless the consent of the group is obtained.
3. Rights in debate are not transferable. A member cannot yield an unexpired portion of their time to another member (the chair controls who speaks) or reserve any portion of time for later.
4. No member may be allowed to speak more than twice to the same question on the same day.
5. Proper decorum in debate must be observed:
6. Remarks must be germane to the question before the group.
7. Speakers should speak loudly and clearly.
8. Speakers should refrain from attacking another member's motives.
9. Remarks should be addressed through the chair.
10. Speakers should stand when speaking.
11. If any member objects, a speaker has no right to read from or to have the secretary read from any paper or book as part of his/her speech, without permission of the assembly.

⁶ The term “debate” applies to the discussion on the merits of a pending question.

Handling a Motion

Three steps by which a motion is brought before the group:

- Step 1: A member makes a motion.
- Step 2: Another member seconds the motion.
- Step 3: The chair states the question on the motion.

Three steps in the consideration of a motion:

- Step 1: The members debate the motion (unless no member claims the floor for that purpose).
- Step 2: The chair puts the question to a vote.
- Step 3: The chair restates the question.

The chair takes the vote:

"All in favor of the motion, say aye." "Those opposed, say no."

The chair announces the result of a vote. A complete announcement should include:

- Report on the voting itself, stating which side prevailed (and giving the count if a

- count prevailed).
- Declaration that the motion is adopted or lost.
 - Statement indicating the effect of the vote or ordering its execution.
 - Where applicable, announcement of the next item of business or stating the question of the next motion that consequently comes up for a vote.

Box 2 Terms use in Parliamentary Procedure

Terms used in Parliamentary Procedure

Point of Order

If a member feels the rules are not being followed, he uses this motion. It requires the chair to make a ruling and enforce the rules. Avoid overuse; save it for when someone's rights are being violated.

Point of Personal Privilege

Another phrase used for a Question of Privilege. An urgent request or motion relating to the privileges of a member of the assembly. This is used if a participant wishes to raise a question, leave the room for an extended time, or make a request to personal comfort.

Point of information

A nonparliamentary question about business at hand. This is used when a participant seeks clarification on a matter.

Chairing Meetings

Effective chairing is crucial for an enjoyable experience in SUNYMEU. All chairs should practice chairing meetings prior to SUNYMEU using both procedures for small meetings and parliamentary procedure.

Who Chairs & Facilitates Meetings?

- The President of the European Council chairs the European Council meeting.
- The President of the European Council may ask the HOG of the Presidency team to co-chair, which may make keeping track of procedure and minutes easier.
- The Foreign Affairs Council is chaired by the High Representative. The High Rep is assisted by the foreign minister holding the Council Presidency (Spain). Spain will chair FAC in the High Rep's absence.

Chair's Powers

The Chair will decide on the closure of debate, but a participant must move for closure, and be given a maximum of one minute to explain their rationale. If at least two other participants second the motion, it will immediately be put to a vote, and requires the support of at least $\frac{3}{4}$ of the participants to be successful. The Chair will declare the debate closed if the vote is successful. The same rules apply for closure of debate.

Box 3 Checklist for Meeting Chairs

Brief Primer on the European Union

We recommend that readers who are new to EU studies view this video, “How does the EU work?” (Other videos such as the EU’s history and the Eurozone can be found on the IEUSS Resources webpage.) Table 3 contains key information on the EU’s 27 member states.

EU Member States & the EU’s Neighbours

The European Union was established as the European Economic Community (EEC) with the Treaty of Rome (1957). The six founding states were: Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg, France, Italy, and West Germany (now Germany). States that wish to be considered for EU membership must be European and satisfy the Copenhagen Criteria.⁷

Membership of the EU is preceded by lengthy accession negotiations. There have been several “enlargement rounds” in the European Community’s/EU’s history, which has resulted in states joining the EU in the following years as listed in Box 4.

Box 4 Enlargement Rounds

Membership in the European Union is formally recognized in accession treaties. There are several countries seeking EU membership. (See Table 2.)

Most EU member states are linked to some neighbouring European states by what is known as the Schengen Convention, which provides for passport-free travel between the 27 signatory states. Croatia, the EU’s newest member is also the most recent EU member state to join the Schengen Area (January 1, 2023). Not all EU members have agreed to take part in the Schengen Agreement, but only certain countries that belonged to the EU prior to 2004 have the right to “opt-out” of Schengen. (Similar arrangements apply in respect of the adoption of the Euro, a subject to be covered under “policies.”) Ireland, although not a member of the passport-free zone, participates in some of the judicial and police aspects of the Schengen area. Three non-EU states are permitted to participate in the Schengen area—namely, Iceland, Norway, and Switzerland. Bulgaria, Cyprus, and Romania have not yet implemented Schengen, but are expected to do so once they have modernized border policing.

⁷ Applicants must: have market economies; have democracies maintaining the highest standards for civil rights and civil liberties; and be capable of applying EU laws and policies (the acquis).

EU Treaties

The EU is governed by treaties (rather than a constitution). Nevertheless, the treaties are interpreted and enforced (e.g., the levying of fines to constituent units in breach of treaty obligations) in a similar fashion as that of a federal constitution in federal states. Unlike the “anarchic” international system, the EU takes the form of a quasi-federal political system (though not a quasi-federal state). Until recently, a new treaty was negotiated every four or five years. The treaties are not stand-alone treaties but rather are reforming treaties that amend and build on the existing treaties. The latest reforming treaty is the Lisbon Treaty that came into effect in December 2009. Because the Lisbon Treaty was very difficult to ratify in some member states, there is now no great enthusiasm for further treaty reforms, even though after the crises of recent years reforms are perhaps necessary.

Since the founding treaties of the 1950s, later treaties have thus consisted primarily of making amendments and additions to earlier treaties. Inevitably, as new treaty articles have been created and old treaty articles have been removed, the treaty system has become unwieldy, and virtually incomprehensible to the layperson. The key point to know is that there are two main treaties: The Treaty on European Union and The Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union. Together, the TEU and the TFEU form the legal basis for governance in the European Union. The TEU contains 55 articles and the TFEU 358.⁹

The broad distinction between the two treaties is that:

the TEU establishes the broad principles and operating structures of the European Union.

the TFEU deals mainly with the policies of the EU and with the details of how policies are made.

⁹ Consolidated versions of the two treaties

Table 4 EU Institutions (Shaded – the institutions we are simulating in Saturday SUNYMEU)

CONCLUSIONS FOR SUNYMEU 2023

OUTCOME OF PROCEEDINGS (Fall 2023 – SUNY Model European Union)

From: General Secretariat of the Council

To: Delegations

Subject: Special meeting of the European Council (4 November 2023)
-Conclusions

Delegations will find attached the conclusions adopted by the European Council at the above meeting.

Partnership between the African Union and the European Union

I. WORKING TOGETHER FOR MORE SUSTAINABLE FARMING PRACTICES

1. The AU and EU need to work together to ensure more sustainable farming practices in African countries and provide an outlet for sustainable products in the EU market. The EU should also phase out import tariffs within the next 10 years on foodstuffs from African countries. Finally, the EU should work with the AU in supporting efforts to strengthen regional supply chains to increase intra-Africa trade in foodstuffs and fertilisers. The Commission is asked to develop a plan to build a permanent EU corps of sustainable farming experts to be situated in EU and Member State offices/embassies throughout Africa. Netherlands, France, Germany pledged to provide experts.

II. CLIMATE CHANGE

At the 27th Conference of the Parties to the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change (COP 27), the EU led the way for agreement to a ‘loss and damage’ (L&D) fund to compensate developing countries suffering from climate change damage. The EU now needs to take leadership in the UN to ensure that this fund is developed and that the developed countries pay their fair share into this fund. Agreement within the EU must be reached prior to the COP 28, which will take place in Dubai, United Arab Emirates, from 30 November to 12 December 2023. Therefore, we expect EU environment ministers (Environmental Council) and EU finance ministers (EcoFin) to present a plan for establish a financial mechanism with the AU to assist AU Member States with meeting targets for reducing GHG emissions. 30 Billion Euro in Member State contributions shall be distributed over a 10 year period to develop renewable energy in cooperating AU partner states.

III. DEBT CANCELLATION

The multiple crises African countries have faced in recent years has created untenable debt in many countries. The EU should work with the IMF to arrange debt cancellation. States must ensure a balanced budget to qualify for cancellation.

IV. THE EUROPEAN PEACE FACILITY

Most of the funds from The European Peace Facility (EPF) have been expended to support Ukraine’s repulsion of Russia’s aggression, leaving minimal funds to assist African countries to deal with conflicts on their continent. The FAC should raise the EPF ceiling from 5.69 billion (2021-2027 period) to 10 billion, with annual ceilings raised accordingly.

V. GLOBAL GATEWAY PROGRAMME

The EU needs to find creative ways to increase its Global Gateway Africa-Europe Investment Package and the EU-Africa Green Energy Initiative. The GGP is inadequate compared to China's Belt and Road initiative, which is investing tens of billions of euros in Africa. The Commission is requested to consider options for increasing financing for Global Gateway Projects, working directly with the AU in full partnership.

VI. LINKING AFRICAN AND EUROPEAN YOUTH

There have been occasional Africa-Europe Youth Summits planned as part of the AU-EU efforts to build people-to-people links. This summit should become an annual event that is hosted alternatively in an EU and AU city. Funding can be allocated from an existing EU programme to provide scholarships for youth participation. The Education, Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency (EACEA) is asked to issue a Call for Proposals (CFP) for an INGO to develop and manage this event. The program once established must ensure that participating countries meet high standards for free expression and safety.

VII. INNOVATIVE MIGRATION OPPORTUNITIES

Establish a 'diversity lottery' for asylum seekers from AU Member States to receive permanent resident status. This lottery will include nationals of those AU Member States that have negotiated return agreements with the EU to accept the return of irregular migrants. Asylum seekers granted such status by lottery shall be capped at 500,000 migrants, to be distributed as follows: France, 20% Spain, 20% Italy 20% Germany, 30% Ireland, 10% to the remaining Member States.

VIII. TRADE ASSISTANCE

The EU should support the removal of tariffs on textiles and garments manufactured in the African Continental Free Trade Area (AfCFTA). The factories must be under either African or European ownership and have fair working conditions. The Commission is directed to deliver a White Paper assessing whether this is doable within WTO rules for developing countries and provide a schedule for decreasing tariffs over a 20-year period.

IX. THE AFRICAN UNION IN THE UN SYSTEM

The EU should support providing the AU its own voice in the UN system, including AU observer status in the UN General Assembly, the UN Security Council, and the World Trade Organization (WTO). The High Representative is directed to prepare a report to the UN advocating for AU's recognition in the UN system.

OUTCOME OF PROCEEDINGS (Fall 2023 – SUNY Model European Union)

From: General Secretariat of the Council

To: Delegations

Subject: Council Conclusions on the Israel-Hamas Conflict and Ukraine's
Candidacy to the European Union

Delegations will find attached the Council Conclusions on the Israel-Hamas Conflict and Laying the Foundation for Opening up Accession Talks with Ukraine

I. EU Condemns the Hamas Attack on Israel

The EU condemns in the strongest possible terms the multiple and indiscriminate attacks across Israel by Hamas and deeply deplores the loss of lives.

The EU calls for an immediate cessation of these senseless attacks and violence, which will only further increase tensions on the ground and seriously undermine Palestinian people's aspirations for peace.

The EU stands in solidarity with Israel, which has the right to defend itself in line with international law, in the face of such violent and indiscriminate attacks.

The EU reiterates its condemnation of acts of terrorism and its unwavering commitment to Israel's security, as well as to the protection of civilians in the Occupied Palestinian Territories.

The EU recalls the importance of working towards a lasting and sustainable peace through reinvigorated efforts in the Middle East Peace Process.

The EU reiterates that we live in a multipolar world and the EU has a special responsibility, a special role to play in this new global order.

1. No substantial progress has been made in achieving the Two-State Solution, including a viable sovereign independent and contiguous Palestinian state based on the 4 June 1967 lines. Signed agreements, including the 1993 Oslo Peace Accords – which itself was anticipated as a temporary measure to provide space for negotiations for a permanent agreement – have not been honored. On 18 September 2023, the EU, Saudi Arabia, the League of Arab States, Republic of Egypt, and the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan launched a ‘Peace Day Effort’ on the sidelines of the UN General Assembly. ‘Peace Day’ refers to the day when the parties reach a peace agreement based on the Two-State Solution. This represents a new and promising approach to encouraging Israel and Palestine to agree to a permanent Two-State solution. Considering the attack by Hamas on Israel that took place in October 2023, the European Council directs the High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy/VP of the Commission and the EEAS’s Special Envoy for the Middle East Peace Process to act urgently to prepare a proposal for an EU incentive package to encourage the Palestinian Authority and Israel to re-engage in the peace process.

2. Considering recent hostilities between Hamas and Israel, the European Council urges the parties to act urgently to accelerate negotiations for the ‘Peace Supporting Package’, which the parties agreed to be presented no later than September 2024. This includes medical, food/water, electrical supplies such as generators, and fuel for hospitals and power dependent infrastructure. The EU has pledged an unprecedented package of political, security, and economic support to both Israel and Palestine upon reaching a peace deal. The European Council hereby directs the European Commission, led by the High Representative/VP of the Commission, to present a detailed package to both parties, including liberalizing trade, visa normalization, and financial packages that would come into immediate effect after 'Peace Day'.

3. Because achieving peace between the two parties is predicated on accepting the Two-State Solution with Jerusalem the capital of both Israel and Palestine, the European Council urges Israel to immediately end its illegal settlement activities, land confiscation, and house evictions in the Occupied Palestinian Territories. Failure to act fuels violence and casualties.

4. The European Commission should engage in a program to better educate the European public about the need for a Two-State Solution. As part of this process, the EU should create a programme to improve European/Israeli/Palestinian people-to-people links among students, business leaders, journalists, and government officials. This includes EU support for state level, and local religious based education programs.

5. The EU should strengthen its efforts to combat antisemitism and foster Jewish life in Europe. To this end, the European Commission is asked to continue progress in meeting the goals of the Working Groups on the Implementation of the EU Strategy on Combating Antisemitism and Fostering Jewish Life. Additionally, the EU should promote policies that protect the rights of people practicing Islam inside the European Union. This is especially important considering the recent rise in violence against Islamic populations. EU Member States are urged to adopt organizational, national, and locally-ran strategies for combating antisemitism and islamophobia inside their respective countries.

6. The EU has been very generous in its support of Palestinians. The EU will cut off all economic aid (aside from the Medical/food/electrical aid mentioned in Recommendation #1) to Palestinians unless two conditions are met: a) all hostages taken by Hamas in its October 2023 attack on Israel are freed, and b) it can be determined that no EU funding indirectly enables any terrorist organization to carry out attacks against Israel.

7. Any funding required for humanitarian efforts will be provided via a eurobond issue.

II. Ukraine's Candidate Status for EU Membership

1. Within the framework of the Spanish presidency of the Council of the EU, the heads of government met on 6 October 2023 in Granada, Spain to discuss the prospect of a possible enlargement of the EU. Enlargement is a geo-strategic investment in peace, security, stability, and prosperity. It is a driver for improving the economic and social conditions of European citizens, reducing disparities between countries, and must foster the values on which the Union is founded. Looking ahead to the prospect of a further enlarged Union, both the EU and future Member States need to be ready. On 28 February 2022, Ukraine applied for EU membership. On 17 June 2022, the European Commission issued its opinion on the application for EU membership. On 23 June 2022, the European Council granted candidate status to Ukraine. The European Council invited the European Commission to report to the Council on the fulfillment of the conditions specified in the Commission's opinion on the membership application as part of the Commission's regular enlargement package. At the 9 February 2023 special meeting of the European Council, we acknowledged the considerable efforts that Ukraine has demonstrated in recent months towards meeting the objectives underpinning its candidate status for EU membership. The European Council reiterates that Ukraine's future lies within the European Union. Ukraine has made substantial progress toward meeting the requirements as laid out in the Commission's Opinion on Ukraine's application for members of the European Union.

2. A precondition for opening negotiations with Ukraine will be the conduct of a free and fair presidential election in spring 2024.

3. International monitors must be welcomed into Ukraine and certify that elections were free, fair, and inclusive.

4. Ukraine should explore online voting to ensure Ukrainian citizens living in Russian occupied territories can vote without retribution from the Russian occupying forces. This online voting system should also include all voting eligible Ukrainians within and outside sovereign Ukraine. The European Commission will provide funding to ensure the necessary infrastructure for safe and secure online voting.

5. The winner of the presidential election should form a national unity government in their cabinet, which would ideally include members of the principal opposition parties.

6. The Commission is charged with monitoring these conditions.

7. The Commission is charged with submitting a report to the European Council no later than one month after spring 2024 elections with a recommendation whether to open candidacy talks. The Commission should be specific as to which of the 35 chapters should be prioritized before opening negotiations. The Commission should place special emphasis on the inclusion of Russian speaking Ukrainians into wider Ukrainian government and society.
